

What is your name?

(Feel free to use a pseudonym or answer anonymously if you wish.)

How old are you?

Which county in Washington do you live in?

Is your location:

Rural  Suburban  Urban

What does it mean to you to have the freedom to choose what you read? Feel free to respond in any way you wish, or use one of the prompts below as inspiration:

- Tell us about a book that is meaningful to you. How did you find this book? Why is it important that you had access to it?
- How do you decide what to read? Where do you find reading material?
- How would you feel if someone told you that you weren't allowed to read something you wanted to read? Why would you feel that way?

Would you like to be entered into a prize drawing? If you do, give us your email address!

By filling out this form, I give permission for the Washington State Library, Washington Center for the Book, and Humanities Washington to use my response on social media posts, marketing, websites, etc.
